“Life is about seeing potential in someone else and giving opportunity. This is when we truly make a difference.”

I guess you could say it's not “common” for a woman to own her own mortgage company. However, you can't convince Renee Morton of that, in fact the Morton Mortgage namesake has been going after what she wants for decades! How did Renee go from selling $120,000 a year in hand cream for Neiman Marcus and working for upscale beauty icons such as; Versace to owning her own Mortgage company? A single parent, new to Texas with the work ethic and drive inherited from her Grandfather, Renee did what needed to get done and she is still getting it done!

Renee got her Mortgage License, worked her way through the Mortgage industries ups and downs until 2014 when she started her own Mortgage company after seeing an email that read, “Fear is the Enemies way of holding you back from God's blessings.” Besides running her business, Renee is very involved with the NAPMW, GHAMP, HMBA, Child Advocates and Habitat for Humanity. To learn more about Renee you need look no further than her consistent 5 star rating and reviews. It may not be “Common” for women to own their own mortgage company but there is nothing “Common” about Renee Morton. And that's a good thing!
